

INTERNATIONAL PEACE

Socialism Contrary to the Realization of Such Hope.

THE VIEWS OF A DIPLOMAT

Claims of Italian, German and French Differ Greatly.

TAKING LESSONS FROM AMERICA

Belief That the United States is Preparing for Conquest of the World.

Socialism, as exemplified today, is contrary to the hope of universal peace. This fact has been acknowledged by all political authorities of the world. It is in this respect, too, that socialism does not find as many supporters as it is entitled to, should its problems be practicable of solving. The American socialists rank as yet far, the most perfectly organized socialistic corps existant.

"The Italian socialists claim that natural social evolution tends toward collectivism," said a diplomat today, "and that through this must inevitably come universal peace. They argue the question from biological, evolutionary premises, and it is, therefore, fair to ask them if national race characteristics are to disappear or to become more marked. Recent conflicts do not indicate the disappearance of race hatreds. In fact, the lessons of history and of present experience are contrary to the hope of universal peace.

Economic Facts a Disturbing Cause.

"Economic facts are taking such a preponderating place that their action becomes a disturbing cause for the satisfaction of the masses for riches and power for conquest in the military society of the times of absolutism. The history of the future will unfortunately, perhaps be woven with battles more bloody than those of past centuries. It will be no longer the struggle of social classes for the satisfaction of their interests, but it will be a more terrible struggle of peoples with the same intent of economic interest. Thus speak those who see the future, and there is something reasonable in this timidity.

The German Socialists.

"The German socialists maintain an entirely different attitude. They are military in every way. Herr Bebel, a leading socialist, recently declared in the Reichstag that 'we socialists are the true patriots, and Germany will find no better defenders of her army and the empire than we.' While whole battalions and regiments of the German army are composed of socialists, especially in Saxony, there are never such disorders occurring among Italian conscripts, even though discipline is stricter and the officers mostly nobles. In Germany socialists are not revolutionary, because that would require expansion, which is the life of the German people. In Italy the socialists try to show the uselessness of the army and the evident that war to the nation by saying that bayonets and cannon serve only to prop the throne. Should this fall, the military would be the way to the throne, and millions would dissolve rapidly.

As to Disarmament.

"M. Millerand, the French socialist, urges against any one nation lead in disarmament. 'Up to the time,' he said, 'today unknown, when governments will agree to diminish simultaneously the weight of military institutions, the partial disarmament of one nation would be a source of madness. It would be a crime against the ideal which the socialists are the first to acclaim in the image of France.

NO ROUGH HANDLING

Diplomacy Induced Objecting Woman to Enter Cab.

A woman who had been placed under arrest on suspicion that her mind was affected objected to entering the house of detention cab in front of police headquarters today. She managed to attract a crowd of curious persons and give the police some trouble, but she was handled in a manner far different from the treatment accorded Mrs. Minor Morris at the White House. Sergt. Gallahue, Detective Warren and Mrs. Thornburgh, the matron, used their persuasive powers, and managed to get the woman into the vehicle without any show of violence or without dragging her through the streets. The woman gave her name as Mrs. Elizabeth Laycock, said she was forty-five years of age, and that her home is at 1763 Madison avenue, New York City. She came here, she stated, to have the board of charities see her to Cheyenne, Wyo., to meet her uncle.

"My uncle," she remarked, "is the great king of Maine and the United States. He is now coming here by way of the Cape of Good Hope and I want to meet him."

Her uncle's name, she said, is James Minor Morris. She said she was looking for a man who had been in business in Charlotte, N. C. Mrs. Laycock says she was born in Cornwall, England, and that she has been at Chicago, Cincinnati and other places, where she was robbed of her property and money. She will be examined by the police this afternoon. An effort is to be made to locate her relatives.

Larceny of Newspapers.

Andrew Reynolds and William Reynolds were taken into custody by Policeman Leier of the seventh precinct last Sunday on a charge of the larceny of thirty-five newspapers from Charles W. Powers, at 3071 M street. After their arrest they furnished $2 collateral for their appearance in the Police Court today, but when their names were called they did not respond and the money was declared forfeited.

Larceny of Two Rings.

Irene Bell and Ethel Pinkney, young colored girls, were in the Juvenile Court today to answer a charge of taking two valuable rings from Mrs. Catherine Behler. Irene was employed in Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Behler last Saturday and the rings disappeared. The same day one of the rings was sold at a second-hand shop by Ethel Pinkney, a friend of the other girl. Policeman Vermillion arrested both girls, but Judge Mulwain decided that he could hold only Irene Bell for the larceny, and she was placed with the probation officer for one year, in default of a fine of $4. The charge against Ethel Pinkney was dismissed.
